Killcode: Programmed to Destroy Inane Pop

Killcode rocked out with the servicemen and women in Southwest Asia.

Washington, D.C. (May 30, 2011) – Armed Forces Entertainment sent Killcode, the rock band with a rebel spirit and heavy guitars, to perform for the troops stationed in Southwest Asia. The band put on a high-energy show, signed autographs, posed for pictures and extended their gratitude to the men and women in uniform.

Killcode released their debut EP, To Die For, in 2009 and has been blowing the roof off of every venue since. The band has shared the stage with band like FUEL and recently debuted their second EP to rave reviews, landing them at number 27 on the FMQB charts and number 32 on CMJ.
