The Paris Escovedo Project

Latin-fusion music heads overseas to entertain troops in the Pacific

Washington, D.C. (April 20, 2012) – Armed Forces Entertainment sends The Paris Escovedo Project to meet and greet the servicemen and women stationed in Diego Garcia, which is an island located in the Indian Ocean. The band will perform for the troops, sign autographs, pose for pictures and extend their gratitude to the men and women in uniform.

The Paris Escovedo Project is a 10-piece band started by Paris Anthony Escovedo. He was influenced by his father's band, the Escovedo Brothers, who performed with Santana. The band is an upbeat bend of Latin, jazz, pop, funk and old school soul – Escovedo calls it “ghetto jazz.” When asked to explain his vision of the band, Escovedo said he wants to, “represent the mission of his father to bring peace, love and soul to the world of music through playing and performing with great musicians; to play his music with passion and love.”
