Have You Hugged a Performing Possum Today?

The Zinghoppers bring some family fun to the troops stationed in Europe.

Washington, D.C. (September 24, 2011) – Armed Forces Entertainment will send children's entertainment group The Zinghoppers to perform for the troops and their families in Europe. The group will perform for the kids and their families, sign autographs, pose for pictures and extend their gratitude to the men and women in uniform.

Husband and wife team, Kitty and Jack Norton, created the Zinghoppers in their classroom as sock puppets after noticing that the students responded to funny character voices. The Nortons are teachers with a love of music and a passion for communicating to young children in a fresh, engaging and fun way. The Zinghoppers are the soundtrack to a child's joy, they truly create a sense of joy and happiness in young audiences.
